The Master Program

The Master in Public Governance, offered by the University of Granada and the Euro-Arab Foundation for Higher Studies, provides high quality training in the concept of Governance and its applicability in the strategic regions.

The program is intended for high-level civil servants countries as well as professional and academic specialists in fields related to governance, public administration and public management. Master candidates will have the chance through their training to improve their skills and challenge their understanding of Governance through modules delving on a great variety of topics related to reform and effective government. A program like that is of the up-most relevance. Achieving good Governance among strategic regions requires strong support and enforcement of laws that guarantee rights and fundamental freedoms, achieve horizontal and vertical accountability to control executive power, and ensure balance among public and private actors. Added to this, administrative and legal reforms to increase the economic capacities of these countries stresses the need of specialists capable of bringing the policy-related insight and solutions necessary in order to achieve effective government.

The programme's teaching dynamic is based on a method of blended learning that combines online courses and on-site seminars, allowing the students to carry out their studies without having to give up their professional commitments.

The onsite seminars will take place Granada (dates to be confirmed depending on availability and schedules of professors), where students will be able to interact directly between themselves as well as with faculty and professional experts of international reputations.

Training principles

- The studies are aimed at officers but also experts and researchers.
- The nature of the courses is essentially applied, in order to build capacities beyond providing knowledge. Our aim is to give the students tools to lead the reforms.
- All our teaching and training will be in English. We believe that it is necessary to find a lingua franca for global communication, and that it should be the English language. Also most of the literature on this topic is in this language. It will therefore be a requirement to have knowledge of this language in order to take the courses.
- Our approach is key strategic regions in the world.

General Objectives

1. Provide needed capabilities to become active agents for meeting the unavoidable challenges that their regimes must be faced today.
2. Understand the concept of Governance and its applicability in the new world environment.

Become familiar with the Indicators of Governance such as voice and accountability, political stability, government effectiveness, regulatory quality, rule of law, control of corruption, average institutional quality, etc.

3. Training officials and managers in Public Administration.

Specific Objectives

1. Specific and applied study of the Public Administration Reform in strategic regions in the world.
2. Build and enhance leadership capabilities
3. Provide capabilities to implement e-government and ICT as tools in providing public services.
