

newsFUNDEAMAL, a web portal on employability in Arab countries

16 Jun 2016

<http://fundeamal.org/> [1]The possibilities for work, study, research or investment are expanding and the Euro-Arab Foundation for Higher Studies helps to find new opportunities in six of the countries of the Arab world: Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia in the Maghreb area, and Saudi Arabia, Baréin and the United Arab Emirates.

[1]The Andalusian Regional Government, through the Andalusian Employment Service and the European Social Fund, has sponsored this project whose one of its results has been the creation of the web portal 'Fundeamal' [1].

Fundeamal is a tool for those who want to start their projects in the Arab countries offered: Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Saudi Arabia, Baréin and United Arab Emirates.

In the presentation of the project, the Executive Secretary of the Euro-Arab Foundation, Inmaculada Marrero, stated that the objectives are "to facilitate the search for information to develop projects in Granada, to mediate in the search for job offers in the countries where the portal is focused and, finally, to pay attention to the employability in Granada of those who come from the research".

The web presents useful information of six countries in the Arab world, three in the Maghreb and three in the Middle East, as well as different alternatives helping people who are interested in the field of employability, research stays and scholarships.

The Delegate of the Andalusian Regional Government, Sandra García, stated that Fundeamal is "an effective and useful project that aims to build bridges based on employment and knowledge".
