

news‘Docutubes’: explaining children what religious tolerance and peace mean

08 jan 2020

The main partners of the RETOPEA project are going to meet in Milton Keynes (UK) in order to carry out the planning of 'Doctubes', an activity that aims to teach teenager about religious tolerance and peace.

The pilot activity will take place around April in different high schools of Granada as well as in other centers of Belgium and the United Kingdom.

RETOPEA is a European project that aims to investigate how experiences with historical (en vez de historic, por traducciones anteriores, enlace abajo) peace treaties in Europe and around the world promote tolerance and understanding of religious diversity. This project is funded by the European Union's Horizon 2020 Research and Innovation Programme.
